

BNB: The Utility Token That Pays to Hold 20-11-2025:

- BNB is the utility token of the decentralized BNB Chain ecosystem. Initially used mostly for trading commission discounts and gas fees, today it offers far more to holders across the universe of Binance products and services.
- A user who bought 1 BNB on January 1, 2024, and held it on Binance until the end of March 2025, could have earned over 177% in combined returns from price appreciation and ecosystem rewards.
- Through Launchpool, airdrops, and consistent token growth, BNB has become a compelling asset for both traders and long-term holders – all the while remaining a utility token.

BNB was born in 2017 as a utility token to support Binance users: a way to save on trading fees and cover gas costs on what would eventually become BNB Chain – a decentralized, community-driven ecosystem of layer-1 and layer-2 blockchain solutions.

Over time, BNB's role has expanded significantly, and today, it is much more than a tool for active traders. The token has become a gateway to new project launches, exclusive airdrops, and opportunities to grow crypto portfolios without actively participating in the market. With Binance offering an increasingly wide array of on-platform earning opportunities, BNB now functions as a gateway to the broader Web3 economy.
