BIP39:

Turning Complex Keys Into Simple Words

BIP39 is a protocol that converts difficult-to-handle cryptographic data into a human-readable list of words called a mnemonic phrase. These phrases usually consist of 12 to 24 words taken from a standardized list of 2048 options. This system helps users back up and restore their cryptocurrency wallets without needing to remember long strings of characters. An optional passphrase can be used to add an extra layer of security to the wallet. The phrase combined with the passphrase generates a seed that allows full deterministic recovery of all wallet keys. Thanks to BIP39, wallet backup and recovery have become both safer and more user-friendly.
