BIP39:

Making Crypto Wallets Easy to Backup and Restore

BIP39 is a standard that converts complex random data into a simple set of words called a mnemonic phrase. These phrases typically have between 12 and 24 words, chosen from a fixed list of 2048 words to reduce errors. This approach allows users to back up their cryptocurrency wallets in a way that's easy to remember and write down. Adding an optional passphrase provides extra security by strengthening the cryptographic seed. The seed generated from the phrase and passphrase can recreate the entire wallet and its keys. BIP39 has become widely adopted because it combines strong security with user-friendly recovery.
